1977 the southern hemisphere commands an increasing interest among atmospheric chemists it has smaller and less industrialized continents than the northern hemisphere and thus enjoys lower emissions of anthropogenic and biogenic pollutants as a consequence the concentrations of trace species are lower in the southern hemisphere giving rise to significant inter hemispheric gradients from an observation of the climatology of the various trace gas gradients important conclusions on the chemical lifetimes the distribution of sources and transport of trace species can be derived thus it is only fitting that the agricultural division of atmospheric research sponsored by the conference of agricultural scientists of the southern hemisphere held in 1975
