were falling apart and once you put the pieces back together you felt strong enough to stand on your own. Thank you for allowing me in during your most difficult time and trusting me to place bandages on your broken heart. Just know if you ever need me again, I'm one call away. There's just something about this line: love is the perfect book for a person who needs to let go of someone or something. I love books that make you question something and make you thoughtful in a good way like this line: would a blue jay stop flying after being knocked down by a few storms? I doubt it, so why are we afraid to love after we get hurt? Pain should make us want to love harder, not become distant or seek vengeance. Not only does this book try to help you deal with love, it also reminds you how you should treat people and that's so important. His poems are full of truth and everyone will find a piece of himself in this book and will enjoy it because in the end, we love to talk about ourselves, but what we love more is reading about us and the things we can't describe. Sometimes it's heartbreakingly true, other times it's just all you need: the world ain't fair, you deserve more. Like reading this poetry book, do it. I am so grateful that I had the opportunity to read this amazing collection before the release date. I loved it, obviously. I felt so much reading this, I felt the pain in the words, the past struggles, the heartache and heartbreak, but I also felt the love and joy and just the raw emotion in every single poem. There was everything in here: poems about love and loss, fighting and losing battles, growing as a person and coming to know and love yourself as well. I could relate to so many of these poems; they made me think about life and the world and also my past. It was great and I am for sure reading more from him in the future, along with picking up his past collections.

Bound by Love 2020-08-14: In this lyrical, exuberant tale, acclaimed Turkish author Elif Shafak, author of The Island of Missing Trees, a Reese's Book Club pick, incarnates Rumi's timeless message of love. The forty rules of love unfolds two tantalizing parallel narratives: one contemporary and the other set in the thirteenth century when Rumi encountered his spiritual mentor, the whirling dervish known as Shams of Tabriz. That together they explore the enduring power of Rumi's work. Ella Rubenstein is forty years old and unhappily married when she takes a job as a reader for a literary agent. Her first assignment is to read and report on Sweet Blasphemy, a novel written by a man named Aziz Zahara. Ella is mesmerized by his tale of Shams's search for Rumi and the dervish's role in transforming the successful but unhappy cleric into a committed mystic, passionate poet, and advocate of love. She is also taken with Shams's lessons or rules that offer insight into an ancient philosophy based on the unity of all people and religions and the presence of love in each and every one of us. As she reads on, she realizes that Rumi's story mirrors her own and that Zahara, like Shams, has come to set her free.
